Sri. Jnanodaya Fisheries School at Mangalore is a permanent complete Elementary School with 5 standards and 3 teachers. Since all the teachers are of Higher Elementary Grade only, no English is taught in the school, even though it is situated in Mangalore City. The parents of the children attending the school have petitioned to me for the introduction of the teaching of English in the school. In his letter dated 10-6-1944, the Headmaster informed the Assistant Director of Fisheries (Coast), Calicut, that 13 of the pupils who were studying in standards II to V left the School to join other schools where English was taught and that some more might do the same. As the progress of the school is likely to be affected in this manner, unless arrangements are made for the teaching of English, the Assistant Director of Fisheries (Coast) consulted the District Educational Officer, South Kanara in the matter of

(1) replacing the present Headmaster of Higher Elementary Grade by a Secondary Grade teacher and (2) introducing teaching of English in the schools to satisfy the requirements of the parents, and to keep up the progress of the school. The District Educational Officer has no objection to this proposal. I therefore, request that Government will be pleased to sanction the conversion of one of the posts of the Higher Elementary Grade Teachers to Secondary Grade to enable the introduction of teaching of English in the School from the next school year viz. from June, 1945. The additional expenditure involved in the proposal is only Rs.108/- per year.
